EXPERIENCE

Gnim K. Bazim focuses his practice on counseling and defending clients in the retail and hospitality industries in a variety of litigated matters, including premises liability, negligent security, and personal injury. He is involved in all aspects of claims handling and litigation, preparing cases for filing, conducting depositions, drafting pleadings, motions and briefs, and participating in trials, arbitrations and mediations. Gnim draws on experience representing multi-national corporate clients in immigration matters.

While attending the Fordham University School of Law, Gnim gained firsthand experience through a law firm internship, supporting attorneys across a range of civil litigation matters, including employment law, personal injury, white collar criminal defense, and commercial disputes.
