EXPERIENCE

Jenny H. Chen counsels and defends government contractors and their insurance carriers in cases involving the Defense Base Act (DBA) extension of the Longshore and Harbor Workers' Compensation Act, which ensures the provision of workers' compensation coverage to civilian employees working overseas. She represents her clients before the U.S. Department of Labor judicial and administrative tribunals. Additionally, Jenny manages claims under the War Hazards Compensation Act, ensuring her clients are reimbursed for DBA benefits paid when the employee injury is deemed a war-risk hazard.
