EXPERIENCE

Michael E. Memberg has dedicated his practice to workers' compensation law since 2008, representing employers, insurers, and third-party administrators throughout Florida and Georgia. He has brought hundreds of claims to a successful resolution. Based on his extensive experience, Michael believes the process begins even before accidents occur and claims are filed, and collaborates with clients to put proactive policies in place to protect their interests. Once a claim has been filed, he works closely with his clients to stay out in front of litigated issues to position the claim for litigation or a reasonable settlement.

Unique to his workers' compensation practice, Michael has substantial experience counseling and defending temporary staffing companies and professional employer organizations (PEOs) that do not have direct supervisory control of their employees and co-employees. He is well-versed in the issues that arise out of a PEO's co-employment arrangement.
