EXPERIENCE

Scott B. Mueller is a recognized leader in real estate law, known for resolving complex legal issues for a diverse range of clients, including commercial and residential property owners, developers, construction firms, contractors, mortgage lenders and servicers, as well as title insurance agents and underwriters. His practice spans the full spectrum of issues related to the use and transfer of property—from zoning and land use to ownership disputes, title defects, foreclosure actions, fraud, tax sales, and real estate-secured lending.

With a track record of successful outcomes, Scott is widely respected for his deep understanding of federal, state, and local real property laws, paired with a client-centered approach that prioritizes clear communication and practical solutions. He has successfully resolved thousands of title insurance claims and real estate-related cases, earning a reputation for both legal acumen and reliability.

In addition to his private practice, Scott served as senior counsel for a leading global agricultural lender, where he oversaw legal compliance and advanced strategic outcomes in areas such as secured transactions, loan underwriting, origination, and title work. This experience gives him a unique perspective on the needs of in-house counsel, allowing him to deliver legal services that emphasize risk mitigation, cost efficiency, and transparency.
