GOLDBERG SEGALLA'S SPORTS AND ENTERTAINMENT LAW INSIDER RANKS AMONG TOP THREE SPORTS LAW BLOGS ON THE WEB

Goldberg Segalla's Sports and Entertainment Law Insider has earned top placement on Feedspot's list of the "Best Sports Law Blogs on the Planet." Feedspot, a browser-based RSS reader, ranks the top 30 sports law blogs based on rigorous editorial review and criteria including Google reputation and search ranking, influence and popularity on various social media sites, and posting frequency and quality.

Goldberg Segalla placed number three on the prestigious list, ranking above numerous blogs affiliated with major universities and peer-reviewed journals. Sports and Entertainment Law Insider was the only blog produced by a law firm to rank in the top nine. Last year, the blog also earned a place on Feedspot's ranking of the web's top 100 blogs on any legal subject, listed alongside such high-profile sites as scotusblog.com (which tracks the Supreme Court) and abajournal.com (the blog for the American Bar Association).

Sports and Entertainment Law Insider is edited by Goldberg Segalla partner Joseph M. Hanna, who also sits on the Sports Editorial Advisory Board for Law360, another top blog on Feedspot's list. Joe chairs the firm's Sports and Entertainment Practice Group, a 20-attorney team that helps sports franchises, team owners, pro athletes, and leagues address a wide range of legal issues and challenges. Last year, Goldberg Segalla ranked among top 20 law firms in the country catering to professional sports teams in Professional Sports and the Law, an online trade publication for attorneys representing teams in Major League Baseball, the National Football League, the National Hockey League, and the National Basketball Association.
