Earyn J. Edwards concentrates her practice on counseling and defending clients in a variety of general liability matters, with a particular focus on mass tort, products liability, and breach of contract claims. Her background includes representing clients in complex multidistrict litigation claims alleging wrongful death, breach of express warranty, design defect, and failure to warn.

Earyn received her bachelor's in Political Science, graduating summa cum laude, from Spelman College before going on to earn her juris doctor from the George Washington University School of Law, where she served as a student attorney for the Public Justice Advocacy Clinic, national officer for the National Black Law Students Association (NBLSA), and member of the Labor and Employment Society. As a law student, Earyn also served as a legal intern for the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission and the American Federation of Teachers. Following law school, she was a law clerk to the Honorable Hiram Puig-Lugo in the Superior Court of the District of Columbia.
